

TECH TALKS

Artificial Intelligence and Healthcare

Join Riya Karumanchi, CEO at SmartCane, and Mark Cassleman, CEO at Digital Health Canada, to learn more about how Artificial Intelligence is transforming the Healthcare Industry.

Riya Karumanchi

Riya is a 16-year-old student from Toronto. She is an entrepreneur and CEO of SmartCane, and is extremely passionate about harnessing technology to better people's lives. Riya is an Innovator at The Knowledge Society, an avid ML developer & is recognized as one of the Top 20 Teen Entrepreneurs Worldwide. Throughout her journey, companies like Google, Microsoft, the DMZ and TD have been supporting her. She has been speaking at conferences worldwide, including WE Day, the MoveTheDial Summit, & PharmaBlockchain.

Mark Cassleman

Mark is CEO of Digital Health Canada, the national not-for-profit professional association that connects, inspires, and educates the digital health professionals creating the future of health in Canada. He is an Adjunct Lecturer with the Institute of Health Policy, Management and Evaluation at the University of Toronto, and Volunteer Advisor, Health Venture Services, at MaRS Discovery District. He serves as an Advisory Board Chair of the Technology Access Centre for Digital Health at MEDIC (mHealth and eHealth Development and Innovation Centre) at Mohawk College. Recently, Mark was a member of the Expert Group on the Potential Healthcare and Biomedical Roles for Deep Space Human Spaceflight for the Canadian Space Agency.

---

Date: Wednesday, September 18th, 2019

Time: 6 to 8 p.m.

Venue: St. Francis Centre for Community, Arts and Culture
78 Church St S, Ajax, ON